Johnson, Wilson Hope To Work Out Formula

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson today opened a two-day conference on the nuclear weapons crisis in the Atlantic alliance.

They reportedly hope to develop some new formula which would win West German and other Allied support in spite of French opposition.

Expect Talks To Lead To Laos Strikes

Speculation War Against Viet Cong May Be Widened

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and South Vietnamese Premier Tran Van Huong today opened planning talks expected to lead to bombing of Viet Cong supply lines in Laos.

Taylor returned to Saigon Sunday from Washington amid increasing speculation that the war against the Communists would be broadened. It was believed that President Johnson had ruled out attacks against North Viet Nam, but the Red supply routes through southern Laos were considered likely targets.

Officials said no announcements were expected from the U.S.-Vietnamese planning sessions.

"I think as time goes on the results of the decisions will become apparent," one official said.

Taylor on his return said new measures by both the United States and the South Vietnamese would be discussed. He refused to say what they were.

"As an outcome of my visit," Taylor said, "the President has instructed me to consult urgently with the government of Premier Tran Van Huong as to the measures to be taken to improve the situation here in all its aspects."

The ambassador said Johnson had "reaffirmed the basic U.S. policy of providing all possible useful assistance to the South Viet Nam people and the Huong government in their struggle to defeat the externally supported insurgency and aggression being conducted against them."

Thousands of police were strung out along Taylor's route from the airport into town.

Amendment Would Delay Legislation

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A constitutional amendment prohibiting the Missouri General Assembly from acting on legislation for 60 days after a governor's inauguration will be introduced by State Sen. John J. Johnson.

Johnson, a St. Louis County Democrat, said he was "having all phases of this proposal researched thoroughly by experts so that I may present a well-rounded and complete plan for consideration as soon as possible."

Johnson said in an interview his plan is necessary because the new governor has only about two months after his election "to prepare recommendations on a budget, set up his administration and otherwise formulate a program under which the state will operate during the next biennium."

"It is grossly unfair to expect an incoming governor to cope as adequately as he should with the many problems he must face immediately upon assumption of office when he has only two months to prepare."

The senator, who won re-election to a second term last month, added that members of the General Assembly, "many of them new, are being sworn in at the same time as the governor and immediately must plunge into consideration and passage of legislation."

Under Johnson's proposal, after members of the General Assembly are sworn in and the inauguration of the governor, formalities of organizing the legislature would then be completed.

Wilson went into the White House meeting shortly before noon. He and the President scheduled another conference in late afternoon and two more working sessions Tuesday in addition to a White House dinner tonight.

The head of Britain's new Labor government arrived Sunday night, bringing a reassurance to Allied countries that the President and he did not intend to "finalize" any agreements.

He predicted, however, steps toward strengthening the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which has been badly split by the question of how to organize nuclear weapons forces—and particularly by controversy over the U.S.-sponsored multilateral force project.

MLF is a proposed 25-ship surface fleet, manned by international crews and armed with U.S. Polaris nuclear missiles.

Wilson, with special British nuclear problems to solve, evidently hopes to emerge in some kind of middleman role, by developing with the President the rough outlines of a program to:—Absorb Britain's nuclear force into a NATO system.

—Revise the U.S. MLF plan so that it will be more acceptable to other European Allies as well as West Germany. Both U.S. and British diplomats were reported hopeful of an understanding between Wilson and Johnson which would then be discussed with West German and other European leaders.

The President will then meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on Wednesday. That meeting will afford Johnson an opportunity to stress to the new government in Moscow his view that the projected NATO nuclear force—opposed by the Soviet Union—will not lead to the spreading of nuclear weapons.

Wilson arrived from London Sunday night. Obviously conscious of the danger that other Allies might think Johnson and he were "ganging up" to decide the nuclear organization issue, he told newsmen "we don't expect to finalize anything."

The head of the British Labor government which took power in mid-October described the conference as "the beginning of a fruitful cooperation, the beginning of a series of discussions which we hope will lead to the strengthening of the alliance."

Wilson has made many trips to Washington in recent years and has met Johnson before, but this is the first occasion on which they have held policy discussions as prime minister and president.

To Represent County As Capital Dog

A 5-month-old female beagle hound will soon be Pettis County's official representative of dogdom in Washington, D. C.

The beagle, from the registered stock of the Rev. William Freeman, Route 4, is scheduled to begin its express journey to Washington, late today to take up residence with President Lyndon Johnson and family in the White House.

Rev. Freeman, who is pastor of the Camp Branch Baptist Church southwest of Sedalia, raises registered beagles and English pointers as a side line.

About a week ago, Rev. Freeman said, an attorney from Rushville, Neb. purchased a litter-mate sister of the dog destined to be LBJ's new pet. A few days later Rev. Freeman received instructions from the attorney to forward another beagle to President Johnson and to sign the card compliments of the lawyer's four daughters, Mary, Linda, Susan and Irene.

The Nebraska attorney was identified as E. D. Hollstein. Rev. Freeman resides about seven miles southwest of here. He brought the dog to Sedalia Monday morning and shipped her at the Railroad Express Agency office. She will make the trip to Washington by air express.

Earlier at a visit to the Democrat-Capital newsroom, the beagle appeared slightly nervous.

Rev. Freeman was justifiably excited about the transaction.

"You don't ship a dog to the president everyday," he quipped. President Johnson is quite a beagle fan—even if he does enjoy hearing them yelp when their ears are pulled. But a short time ago, the female part of his famed "Him" and "Her" beagles choked in a freak mishap.

The dog destined for the Johnson fireside has not yet been named. That will be left to the new owners, Rev. Freeman said.

Waive Hearing

Arrests Follow An Attempt To Rob Local Jockey Club

The apprehension of two Arkansas youths early Sunday morning has resulted in a request to hold them for officers at Russellville, Ark. in the investigation of a robbery at the Jockey Club. As they started around the south side of the building, a window was noted to be open and in the snow one set of tracks led to the open window with no tracks leaving. Officer Romano immediately went to the rear of the building and stationed himself so he could watch the back and south side, while Stratton radioed for assistance and went to the front in a position to watch the north side.

Police Sgt. Charles Stuart and Officer William Shobe had just arrived at the scene when Romano noted movement in the building and called to Stratton he believed the subject was headed for a north side window. About that time a screen was knocked off the window and Summers started out.

Romano was at the north corner of the building and Stratton hurried to the side carrying a shotgun. As the man came out (Please turn to page 2, col. 3)

McNamara, With Team To Remain

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department team of top civilian leaders, headed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, is expected to remain intact at least until mid-1965.

McNamara reportedly has discussed with key members of his team his wish that they stay on and see the Pentagon's programs through the Congress next session. They were said to have agreed.

This is taken to mean that McNamara himself intends to remain in office at least that long.

Associates said they had been unable to detect any signs that McNamara is thinking of stepping out. He is nearing the end of his fourth year as secretary of defense, still well short of the record of 56 months set by Charles E. Wilson in the Eisenhower administration.

The only member of McNamara's top group to resign recently was Thomas D. Morris, assistant secretary of defense for installations and logistics. He will be succeeded by Paul Ignatius, who is being promoted from undersecretary of the Army.

A change in the military high command will come in early February when Gen. Curtis E. LeMay retires as Air Force chief of staff.

Pledge Full Support To UN Peace Effort

Soviet Views Set Forth By Gromyko During Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union today pledged its full support to U.N. efforts to reduce world tensions, but struck out at Western policies on Viet Nam, the Congo and a multilateral nuclear force.

The Soviet views were set forth by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in a major policy speech before the 115-nation General Assembly. He proposed a world summit conference on disarmament and submitted a detailed memorandum on disarmament. Western sources said the memorandum contained little new.

Retirement Of Segni Announced

Four Mentioned As Candidates For Italian Presidency

ROME (AP)—At least four candidates were mentioned today for the Italian presidency to succeed Antonio Segni, who has resigned because of ill health.

Segni's retirement Sunday night heightened squabbling among the members of Premier Aldo Moro's coalition government.

Segni, 73, said he was stepping down after two and a half years in office because he could no longer fulfill his duties. He suffered a cerebral stroke Aug. 7 and although he is slowly recovering, he has not regained the use of his right arm and his speech is impaired.

Parliament will meet Dec. 16 to elect a new chief of state for a seven-year term. He will be the fifth president of Italy, which became a republic in 1946.

The contest intensified the split in Moro's Christian Democratic party. Some Christian Democrats favor former Premier Amintore Fanfani to succeed Segni. Others want Interior Minister Paolo Emilio Taviani and still others support former Premier Giovanni Leone.

Fanfani pioneered the center-left concept under which Moro brought the Socialists into his government. Leone, a noted mediator, was president of the Chamber of Deputies for many years.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under sharp fire from within the party, John Grenier resigned today as executive director of the Republican National Committee.

Burch May Resign

Republican Governors Set Fire In Own Organization

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican governors have started a fire within their party that could make it difficult for National Chairman Dean Burch to command the broad-based support he needs to hold his job.

Although they stopped short in a declaration at Denver, Colo., Saturday of calling collectively for Burch's resignation, there appeared to be majority belief among the 18 who attended that after Burch canvasses the situation thoroughly he may decide to step out.

This was based in part on reports given the governors in closed session that as many as 70 of the 138-member Republican National Committee may favor replacement of Burch. Burch's own canvass of his strength within the committee was said to have been somewhat disappointing to him.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, former head of the committee, made the point on a television broadcast Sunday—ABC Issues and Answers—that the chairman has to have broad support within the committee. He added he didn't know anybody "who would want to stay in that position that didn't have support of his own committee."

Morton, who had announced his backing of Burch, said it is up to the members of the National Committee and no one else to determine whether Burch should be replaced.

He added: "He must have broad support in the National Committee itself, he must have broad support among the Republican governors, the Republican mayors, Republican leaders, state chairmen, vice chairmen, Young Republicans and all."

U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson issued a statement calling Gromyko's speech "harsh cold war talk." He said he hoped it was more propaganda than policy.

"Evidently the world objectives of the Soviet Union remain unchanged," Stevenson declared. "Even self-defense and aid to countries to protect their security and independence is wrong and illegal if it interferes with the Soviet aggressive ambition to communize the world."

The proposed multilateral nuclear force, Gromyko said, is incompatible with the reunification of Germany and is the main obstacle in the way of halting the further dissemination of nuclear weapons.

Western diplomats said the Soviet proposals were largely the same as those previously made by them in U.N. arms talks.

The Soviet delegate specifically endorsed Red China's proposal for a meeting of the heads of state of all countries to consider a ban on all nuclear weapons. He also backed the recommendation of the non-aligned nations at Cairo for a world disarmament conference.

He said: "The Soviet government is prepared to participate in further discussions in any forum and at any level, including the highest one, of the problem of general and complete disarmament, of banning and destroying nuclear weapons, and of measures for the curtailment of the arms drive."

Gromyko pledged the Soviet government's complete support to the United Nations and promised to use it "for easing international tensions, for the development of relations among states with different social systems on the basis of the principles of peaceful coexistence."

Gromyko referred to what he called the "great verbal swordplay" on the issue of U.N. peacekeeping.

Thousands Suffering From Cold

Eastern Portion Of New York State Crippled By Winter

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Cold and hardship continued today for thousands of families in an ice-crippled eastern portion of New York. Power crews sought to restore heat and light for nearly 40,000 customers.

The sun glistened this morning on a winter wonderland created by ice-laden trees and power lines. Temperatures ranged down to 10 below zero in the wake of one of the state's worst storms.

The bitter cold added the threat of frozen water pipes for stricken residents, most of whom were in an area bounded generally by Albany on the south, Glens Falls on the north and Amsterdam-Gloversville on the west.

Three deaths were attributed to the weekend onslaught of snow, sleet and freezing rain.

Many schools closed Friday remained closed today. Others served as emergency centers for those driven from their homes. Churches, fire houses and other public places also were opened for emergency use, and cooking facilities were provided.

The Weather Bureau said tonight and Tuesday would be a bit warmer, amid scattered snow.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, touring evacuation centers in the Schenectady area Sunday night, declared, "We've had ice storms before, but none has ever been as bad as this."

Council Meet, Sewer Talks Set Tonight

City Council meets in regular session at 7:30 p.m. tonight in City Hall and a special recess meeting with representatives of Burns & McDonnell engineering company and the Citizens Sewer Bond committee has been scheduled following regular council business.

Mayor L. L. Studer said today that members of the Citizens Sewer Bond committee had requested the recessed meeting with the council and engineers following a session of the sewer committee Friday. The meeting will be held in the mayor's office and will be open to newsmen, although not to the general public, it was announced.

Studer said the committee wishes to discuss with the council and engineers the problem of increased sewer loads anticipated from construction of a coin laundromat and self-service car wash underway at 810 and 812 Thompson Blvd. as a part of the new Thompson Hills Shopping Center.

The Democrat-Capital learned last week that the city is holding in abeyance permission for sewer connections for the two new facilities. City officials feared the present eight-inch sewer line in Thompson Hills may not be adequate to handle the watershed from the shopping center with the added flow from the laundry and car wash. Burns & McDonnell engineers have been studying the situation.

Patrolman Southwick Shot While Hunting

An off-duty Highway Patrol Trooper, William T. Southwick of Sedalia, was accidentally shot in the face while quail hunting on a farm near LaMonte Monday morning.

He was brought to the Bothwell Hospital for emergency treatment and was to be transferred to the University of Missouri Medical Center in Columbia this afternoon.

He received 14 pellets in the face, but only one—which lodged near his left eye—was believed to be serious.

Other details concerning the mishap were not immediately available. The Highway Patrol headquarters in Lee's Summit said he was accidentally shot by a hunting partner, who was not a member of the patrol.

Finch Appointed To High Court By Gov. Dalton

Pledges Cooperation To Successor in Job

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Charles D. Trigg, outgoing director of the budget and comptroller, said today he will cooperate fully with Gov. - elect Warren E. Hearnes' nominee for the job.

Hearnes announced last week he has chosen Vaughn, 31-year-old accountant and former budget analyst, to be his director of budget and comptroller.

Trigg said Hearnes asked him to re-review the budget requests of state agencies and institutions on a one-year basis and he has been doing so. He said he has asked his staff to present budgetary recommendations to Vaughn immediately.

He said he would be on the job until Jan. 11, the day Hearnes is inaugurated governor, and would give the new administration all the help he could.

Arrests

the officers told him to put his hands up and Officer Shobe, who had followed Stratton, shook Summers down for the possibility he might have a gun. The search revealed nothing, however.

Police had seen the 1960 Cadillac sedan previously passing the place and again just after Summers was caught. A radio call was made for another police car to apprehend the car and driver.

Officers Gordon McDowell and Henry Randall, who were enroute to the scene in Car 7, received the call to get the car and they pulled into the drive of the O'Connor Auto Agency, 1300 South Limit, when they saw a car coming from the south. As it approached they pulled out and stopped the car. Lee, the driver, was taken on to the Police Station and locked in the city jail, pending the arrival of Summers and the officers from the Jockey Club. Lee denied knowing anything about any robbery attempt by Summers, police said.

A cigarette machine was the only place from which any money was obtained and it was but a small amount. The larger amount of money was removed earlier by the proprietors. Another machine was pried on but not opened.

Summers claimed he had Lee drop him off and disappear. Summers also told the officers he was "batting 100 per cent, doing his first break-in and getting caught for the first time."

This was the second time a man had been caught inside the night club. On Oct. 7, 1962, Vance O. Moore, a transient, was caught inside the building by Officer Herbert Mayfield and Stratton, who at that time was a rookie policeman, the same as Romano is now.

The two suspects were questioned Sunday at police headquarters, and Summers, who claimed ownership of the automobile, gave his permission for it to be searched. Found in the car were numerous tools such as punches, steel chisels, pry bars and a ten-pound sledge, as well as articles reportedly stolen in Waynesville, Mo.

According to Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, Assistant Chief Charles Knapp and William Southwick, of the State Patrol, papers found in the car were from a company known as Holiday Enterprises Inc., which sells trailer homes, etc., and from the P and P Lumber Co., both at Waynesville. From Holiday Enterprises, Inc., were 43 titles for trailer homes, trucks and cars, two $100 U.S. Government savings bonds, five shares of Modern Security Insurance stock, a $2,000 certificate from United Savings and Loan Association of Lebanon, Mo., and the Holiday Enterprises, Inc. stock book.

A stock book of the P and P Lumber Co., Inc., Waynesville, was in the car and other papers believed to have come from there.

Articles believed to have been taken at Russellville Packing Co. in Arkansas were also found. A check made through Arkansas authorities indicated they would extradite both men if released by Missouri authorities.

Summers in talking to officers said he got the articles at Waynesville from a soldier at Ft. Leonard Wood, but didn't recall his name. He also said he had been in Morrilton, Ark. for several weeks, although his parents live in Cleveland.

Charges of second degree burglary were filed against both in connection with the arrests here. Further investigation of the two is being conducted by the Sheriff's Department and the State Highway Patrol in connection with several safe robberies in southern Missouri.

Monday morning Summers and Lee were arraigned in Magistrate Court before Judge Frank Armstrong and they waived their right to a preliminary hearing. Armstrong then bound them over for trial in Circuit Court.

They are being held in the county jail in lieu of $3,000 bond.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I doubt that you ever received a letter as nutty as this one. Please print your answer because I've got to understand what's going on.

I am a 16-year-old girl. My best friend is 16 also. I will call her Wendy. Last night Wendy was at my house and we were talking—just the two of us.

Suddenly she said, "How can I get bronchial pneumonia?" I asked her what in the world she wanted to get bronchial pneumonia for. She answered, "Oh I don't want to die or anything like that. I'd just like to get sick enough to go to the hospital so people will send me cards and flowers and the fellows will visit me and see me in my nightgown with my hair loose."

I was shocked at her idea of fun. Have you ever heard of anything so far out? Is Wendy crazy or what? Thanks for your help.—CAN'T DIG IT.

Dear Can't Dig: Anyone who has had bronchial pneumonia will tell you it's no fun. But of course Wendy doesn't really want to be sick, she just wants the fringe benefits.

Illness is a sure-fire attention-getter. Moreover it provides a respectable excuse for not going to school or to work. Some people who fail to get attention from their day-to-day achievements conveniently get sick. You'd be surprised at the number of so-called adults who resort to this technique — often without realizing it.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I own a small novelty shop. We have rented the apartment above our shop to some friends.

Last week we learned that their teen-age son has been stealing merchandise. My husband and I are upset and don't know what to do. We are reluctant to tell the boy's parents because it might end a longtime friendship.

Your counsel is badly needed.—TORN.

Dear Torn: Don't talk to the parents. Talk to the boy. Avoid preaching or threatening. Explain that you are deeply disappointed in him but you are confident he can straighten around and you are willing to let him prove it.

If he continues to steal after you've had the talk, then you must tell his parents.

Dear Ann Landers: For years I've been reading your column and hating you for your stand against divorce. More than once as I read your smug replies I shouted aloud, "What does SHE know about the feelings of the tortured people involved? How can SHE give such pat answers on the basis of a single letter?" Today I am singing a different tune. You were right all along. Shad and I didn't care who we hurt. We couldn't live without each other. I thought Shad had more class than any man I'd ever known. He thought the same about me. Living together has shown us we were both wrong.

After six months we are calling it quits. Shad is going back to his former wife. She is willing to take him back because of the children. I am not so fortunate. My husband doesn't want me back. My teen-age children will have nothing to do with me because I humiliated their father and broke up two homes. All I have is my job—for as long as my health holds up.

My life is a shambles and I deserve what I'm getting. Please keep telling people they can't build a future on the ashes of destroyed marriages and broken hearts. We tried and it didn't work.—GUILTY AS CHARGED.

Dear Guilty: I plan to keep telling 'em—so long as my typewriter holds together. Now quit beating yourself and try to build a new life—somehow.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Eyes On FBI For Handling Of Evidence

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — The case of the three slain civil rights workers is heading toward its next climax Thursday when the government unveils evidence at a preliminary hearing.

Mississippi authorities await a look at the FBI evidence. They must decide if they will press murder charges—a state offense—against some of the 21 men arrested last Friday.

"The first thing I'm going to do," said Dist. Atty. W. H. Johnson Jr., "is review the evidence very, very carefully, and then make the decision on whether the state will take action."

Johnson said the FBI has given assurances it will turn over its evidence to the state.

The FBI has charged 19 men with violating the civil rights of the slain workers. Two other men were charged with being accessories. These are all federal charges. The preliminary hearing could be a delicate legal crossroad. It is scheduled in nearby Meridian before U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter.

Justice Department attorneys will try to put on enough testimony to convince the commissioner they have a strong enough case to warrant holding the 21 men for grand jury action.

On the other hand, it is expected that the government will be trying to hold back the bulk of its case — so as not to tip its hand.

While the government readies its case, a statewide defense fund is being organized for the defendants, five of whom, according to the FBI, are Ku Klux Klan members.

Laurel G. Wier, one of eight attorneys who represented 18 of the men at their arraignment Friday, said calls offering funds have come from as far as Wisconsin. He said a corporation may be formed to administer the fund.

In Philadelphia, Sheriff Lawrence Rainey said Saturday he was offered money by FBI agents for information about the slayings. Rainey, one of those arrested, said agents told him they had witnesses.

The FBI declined comment on the witnesses but said the money claim was "ridiculous."

The civil rights workers, Michael Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James Chaney, a Negro, disappeared near Philadelphia last June. Their bullet-riddled bodies were found in an earth-filled dam Aug. 4.

Mariner Continues Smoothly On Course

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A scientist at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory says of Mariner 4's smooth cruise toward Mars:

"If everything goes well, this is the way it will be for a long time to come — hopefully, until July."

That's the month when the spacecraft is scheduled to pass within 4,400 miles of Mars, its television cameras ready to take the closest pictures yet of the reddish planet.

When scientists last calculated its progress — that was at 6 p.m., Sunday — the Mariner was 1,506,000 miles from earth and was moving 7,000 miles per hour.

NFO May Alter Policy Keeping Members Secret

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The president of the National Farmers Organization said Sunday he expects to leave Eitel Hospital today, a week after surgery for appendicitis.

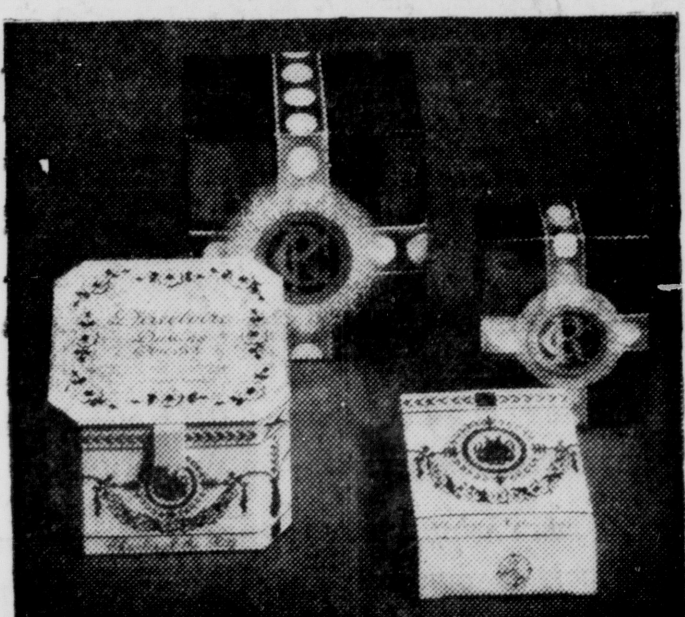

In an interview, Staley indicated there may be a change in the NFO policy of keeping its financial and membership strength secret.

He said members will be given a statement of membership and finance figures. The NFO is an Iowa non-profit corporation and is now having an audit made for the Internal Revenue Service.

Staley, who has headed the NFO since it was organized in 1955, was elected to his 10th straight term as president last week.

The NFO has staged six holding actions aimed at gaining farm commodity contracts for its members from grain and meat processors.

FARMING---

Across Pettis County

Director, MU Extension Center

Dates Ahead

Thursday, Dec. 10 — Annual Pettis County DHIA Meeting REA Building, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Evergreens Need Water

The long drouth this fall may endanger your evergreen trees and shrubs this winter unless some precautionary measures are taken, says Ronald Taven, MU associate professor of horticulture.

Taven explains that unless the soil in which evergreens are growing contains an adequate supply of moisture, trees can be damaged—maybe even destroyed—as a result of winter drying.

He advises that sufficient moisture, if not received from rains, must go into the soil before freeze-up this winter. In view of the dry fall, it is doubtful that the ground contains adequate moisture to carry evergreens through the winter without damage. Recent rains afford only temporary relief, and are not sufficient to carry trees through the winter.

For you to minimize danger to evergreens, both trees and low-growing ornamental varieties, you should soak the soil thoroughly between now and complete freeze-up.

If the weather is dry, evergreens should be watered at about the rate of an inch a week. Heavy mulches should be applied after the soil begins to freeze. This prevents deep freezing, facilitates water absorption by the roots, and conserves moisture in the soil.

Symptoms of winter drying are as follows: On narrow-leaved evergreens, needles are browned entirely or part of the way downward from the tip. Broad-leaved evergreens show injury by a scorching of the leaves at the tips and along the outer margins. In severe cases the entire leaf may turn brown. Young twigs and branches may also dry out and die back. Soaking the soil with water around your shrubs and evergreen trees before the ground freezes up will be good insurance.

Family Insurance

"What insurance should a young family carry?" This is a question coming from many young farm families.

Farm management specialist Leroy Rottman says every young farm family should carry at least enough insurance to help them avoid a catastrophe. Therefore, insurance should be bought by the young family whenever the risk is high. In any insurance program they should buy primarily for protection—not investment.

In addition to an adequate life insurance program, Rottman says the young farm family will need to have an adequate insurance program that covers buildings, liability that will cover injury to the employees and others who are not directly connected with the farm operation, medical and hospital expenses for injury to the family and loss of income because of extended sickness or disability.

Time to Cull Beef Cows

Beef cows are usually culled in late summer or early fall after the calf is weaned and when the cows have gained back some weight.

However, it's seldom profitable to winter a commercial beef cow if she is not nursing or carrying a calf. Many cattlemen find pregnancy examinations by a competent veterinarian a profitable management practice. If you don't have your beef cow herd culled, you still have time.

Stalk Fields

What kind of cattle make best use of pasturing stalk fields and how should these cattle be handled?

Larger cattle generally do better on stalk fields than calves do. Stalk fields are often gleaned with yearling or two-year-old cattle and followed by cows to get what the steers leave. It may not be practical to leave steers on stalk fields long enough that they clean up all the corn left.

It usually pays to feed a protein supplement to cattle that are gleaning stalk fields.

The amount of nitrate should be determined in the base of the stalk if cattle are going to remain on the field long enough to eat very many of the stalks. It usually pays to remove cattle before it is necessary for them to start eating very much of the stalks.

Moisture and Fertilizer

With the low amount of moisture that came this summer, this shortage of moisture can have an effect on the performance and benefits of fertilizer applied this fall.

One of the biggest values to all applications is increased fall growth, which is closely associated with soil moisture. Reserve moisture already in the soil may be as big a factor as rain during a short period.

If total available moisture is so low that there is no growth of grass then an application of fertilizer will not change the situation. If there is growth, percentage-wise the increase from a fertilization application is apt to be as large or larger as if moisture were entirely adequate. On partially dry soil, even though the percentage increase is good, the total increase in pounds per acre may be low.

Virus Pig Pneumonia

Extension veterinarian Payne Oberst says virus pneumonia of pig presents several specific problems in its control. There

$21,500 Jewel Loss For Mrs. Helzberg

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Thirty-nine pieces of jewelry valued at $21,500 were stolen from the apartment of Mrs. Barnett C. Helzberg Saturday night, police said.

A small safe was broken open to reach the jewelry. Mrs. Helzberg's husband is board chairman of the Helzberg chain of diamond stores.

is no vaccine which may be used against it. None of the presently available drugs can destroy the infection. Swine carry the virus indefinitely and spread it from one generation to the next. The Nebraska swine re-population program for producing specific pathogen-free—or S-P-F—pigs was developed to eliminate virus pneumonia and atrophic rhinitis.

Oberst says attempting to live with the infection is not a sound policy. The only effective program for eliminating and controlling virus pig pneumonia includes:

Disposing of all swine on the farm if the disease is present. Obtaining only virus pneumonia-free breeding stock and isolating new boars for at least six weeks.

Maintaining the clean swine in strict isolation away from all other swine and not allowing visitors or trucks in your hog lots.

Pearl Harbor 23 Years After Attack

By MALCOLM BARR

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP)—An oil slick catches the rays of the subtropical sun, expanding in a rainbow of color on the water's surface.

A garland of brilliant flowers joins the wide kaleidoscope.

A gray U.S. destroyer moves quietly through the water, its crew lining the rails, staring at Ford Island on this quiet Monday morning in December.

The place is Pearl Harbor; the time, the present.

The oil slick is from a sunken battleship; the flowers from an anonymous mourner who makes an annual pilgrimage to Pearl Harbor at this time each year.

The harbor is a serene scene, with the mountains of Oahu a backdrop for the blue water.

But 23 years ago today, a few minutes before 8 a.m., hell broke loose at Pearl and in 110 minutes, more than 2,000 Americans were dead or dying; another 1,700 were injured; eight battleships were sunk or disabled; four others were less damaged; and other smaller vessels were damaged, sunk or sinking.

Today is "Pearl Harbor Day."

nizations visit the white memorial which straddles the sunken battleship Arizona. Wreaths are placed in the chapel, prayers said.

Arriving quietly in ones and twos for the Navy-provided shuttleboat are some whose sons or husbands were among the 1,102 men still entombed in the Arizona.

You can still see parts of the rusted superstructure jutting from the water. Occasionally, oil still bubbles to the surface from the old ship.

The U.S. flag flies over her, signifying the USS Arizona remains a commissioned vessel of the fleet on this December 7, 23 years after the United States was plunged into World War II.

Education Up to States

Either the individual states voluntarily get together to create a nationwide program to upgrade American education or we will lose the battle for better schools and colleges.

That is the warning of James B. Conant, noted educator, former president of Harvard, former U. S. high commissioner to Germany and in recent years a respected diagnostician of the country's educational ills.

In his latest book, "Shaping Educational Policy," Conant charges that we are suffering a "critical loss of talent at all levels" because of widely varying educational opportunities and standards and the lack of planning in many states for the improvement and expansion of educational facilities.

Among the most serious challenges facing our public schools and colleges, he lists: The reform of teaching methods and materials, including the new developments in foreign language instruction, mathematics and the sciences.

The introduction of new techniques, such as television and the so-called teaching machines.

The urgency for improvement in teaching the writing of English.

The recruitment of more able young people into teaching.

The education of students of limited ability in high school, including better vocational education.

The way out of the educational crisis, says Conant, is for the states first to put their educational planning machinery in good order, then to form an "Interstate Commission for Planning a Nationwide Educational Policy."

This commission would work in co-operation with the U. S. Office of Education and other federal officials to study major problems and make recommendations to the member states.

It may be argued that the federal government should provide the initiative and leadership to implement such a program. But as Conant points out, not only has the government no constitutional power to establish schools or direct education in a state, but numerous federal advisory and investigative committees on education have been set up in the past.

The results of their recommendations have been almost nil. What reforms have been accomplished have often been through the use of "federal bribery." Even some state legislatures have been forced to use the same tactics to persuade local school boards.

Such bribery may be potent. Over $700 million in federal funds, for instance, currently flow every year to the nation's colleges.

Still there cannot be, says Conant, any such things as a "national" educational policy, but only a "nationwide" one. And that can come about only through state-initiated action, for "What Vermont has and what Vermont needs is very different in many areas from what California needs, which is different again from New Jersey."

The answer, of course, ultimately lies in the people who are involved in education on all levels and with the people in the several states and in the localities in the states who elect the legislators and pay the taxes that support their schools.

It is to these that Conant appeals.

Dial 'C' For Confusion

Those people who are upset about having to memorize seven numbers just for a local telephone call ought to consider what their children and grandchildren will be up against when around-the-world calling becomes commonplace.

There are more than 140 million telephones in use in the world today (80 million in the U.S.), an increase of 16 per cent in the last three years. As more millions are added, the need for international dialing will begin to be important.

In 1961, representatives from every nation in the world met to form the Consultative Committee on International Telegraph and Telephone. One of the committee's acts was to recommend standardized maximum of 12 digits in a world telephone number. The recommendation will be voted on during the next meeting to be held in Moscow.

The dozen-digit figure does not include the dial code giving access to the international network. This could require another three flips of the dial with the calloused forefinger.

It sounds like nothing but fun, but somewhere in this idea there may be the answer to the awesome problems of automation—everybody living it up in the interest of a vast testing program.

Congressional Junketeers on Move

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Here is the roll call of more congressmen who have been busy junketing abroad at the taxpayers' expense.

The venerable Mike Kirwan, Youngstown, Ohio, Democrat, aged 78, and a champion junketeer, is keeping up his record. He has been on an inspection trip to the South Sea Islands, particularly Samoa, one of the most delightful island paradises of all.

While the snow has been falling on Youngstown and the steelworkers are worried about automation throwing them out of jobs, Mike has been inspecting public works in the South Seas.

Most of the buildings in Samoa are built with thatch roofs, and it's difficult to ascertain exactly what Mike will inspect. Possibly he'll look over the fish situation in his capacity as a fish expert. He put across a $10 million fish aquarium for the District of Columbia when its residents would much rather have had money to improve their schools.

Rep. Charles R. Jonas, the North Carolina Republican, is covering the same South Sea Islands on a separate junket, expenses also defrayed by the taxpayers. Why Jonas, a Republican, and Kirwan, a Democrat couldn't team up together is not known.

Another interesting trip is being enjoyed by Reps. Otto Passman, D-La., and John Rhodes, R-Ariz. Though they belong to opposite political parties, they were able to get together for the delightful duty of checking on foreign aid in such interesting areas as Beirut, Lebanon; various cities in India; Bangkok, the fascinating capital of Thailand; Hong Kong, the shopping metropolis of the world; and Tokyo, the largest city in the world.

Passman prides himself on cutting the foreign aid budget. Last spring he bemoaned the fact that his colleagues wouldn't go along with him on any further cuts. They argued that President Johnson had cut enough. On this trip Otto is trying to figure out more cuts.

But in Hong Kong he will stop in to see his favorite jeweler to buy more watches. Otto has the largest collection of watches of any member of Congress — almost as many as he has suits of clothes and considerably more than he has Cadillacs. Otto confides that he always keeps two Cadillacs.

Touring Latin America

Another group from the House Appropriations Committee is touring Latin America to check on the operations of the U.S. Information Agency and various State Department activities.

This group is headed by Jamie L. Whitten of Mississippi, the man who as chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture one year ago delayed the agricultural appropriations for six months while he argued with Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia over the location of a peanut laboratory.

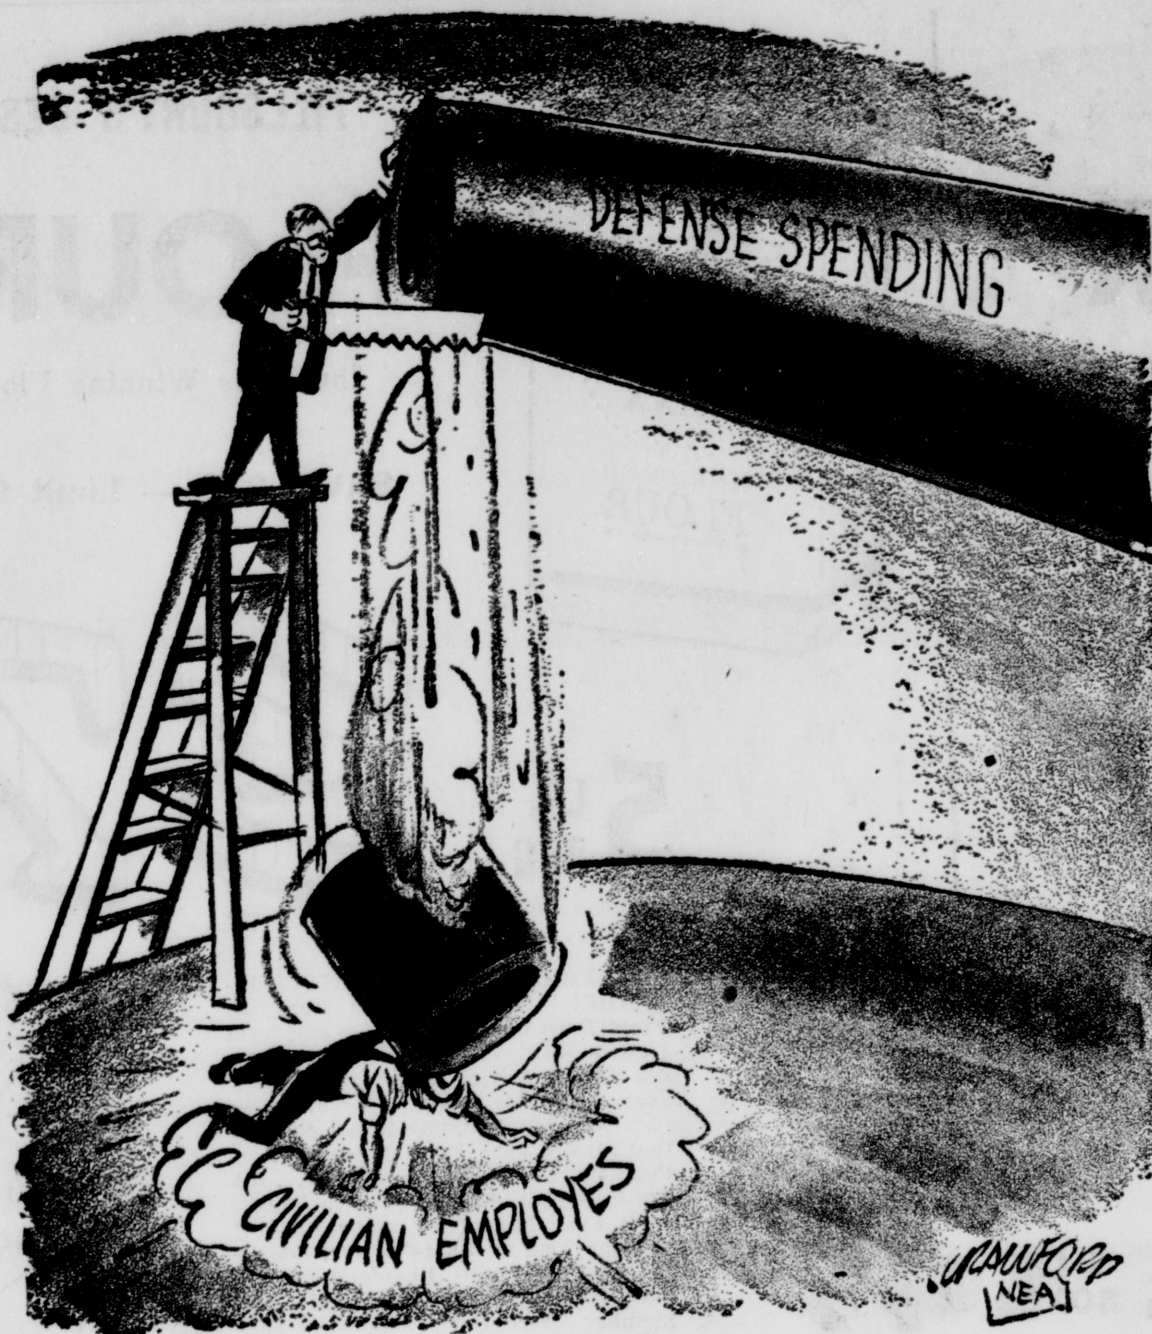

Russell wanted it in Georgia; Whitten wanted it in Mississippi. They compromised by placing a Southeastern research laboratory in Georgia and a cotton weed control laboratory in Whitten's district in Mississippi.

Included in Whitten's junket to Latin America are Robert Michel, Ill., Elford Cederberg, Mich., and Glenard Lipscomb, Calif., all Republicans, and John Slack, Democrat of West Virginia.

Another appropriations committee member, Rep. John J. Flynt, Jr., D-Ga., is on a pleasant junket to the Far East including Japan, Korea, Formosa, Hong Kong, and Manila. He will get back just before Christmas — Dec. 22 — presumably with a nice collection of Christmas presents.

Note: Congratulations to Rep. George Mahon of Texas, new chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, for ruling out foreign junkets for lame duck congressmen. He has said that since they can't participate in more legislation, they don't need to travel abroad. However, he has ruled out junkets for reelected congressmen such as those listed above.

Peace Has Its Casualties, Too

The World Today

Republican Governors Confident

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors are the most self-confident branch of their party at the moment, as they showed in a statement issued after their weekend meeting in Denver.

They got some reason for their confidence from the 1964 elections which were a disaster for the rest of the party.

While Republicans lost out on the presidency in the elections and in Congress dropped 38 House seats and two in the Senate, the party registered a net gain of one in governorships.

But in the very statement which they intended as a chart for the Republicans' future, the governors revealed the party's dilemma in national politics. They wound up sounding like a lot of Democrats.

Although they didn't say so there was another good reason for their willingness to tell the party what it ought to do.

In the 1968 presidential race the Republican candidate will probably come from the ranks of the governors. No Republican in Congress at this time looks like a presidential prospect.

The statement left little doubt that it was critical of Dean Burch, handicapped by Sen. Barry Goldwater to be chairman of the Republican National Committee.

But it named no names. Therefore, it was so ambiguous that some of the governors, who supported Goldwater, could say it wasn't aimed at Burch while others could say it was.

The governors covered a lot of ground in the statement:

1. They sketched an outline of principles they think the party should follow after the 1964 disasters.

2. They suggested the National Committee take steps to include from now on Republican governors and members of Congress — who they said should be included in a GOP leadership conference next year.

3. They didn't mention Goldwater but so worded what they said that he'd have to be obtuse not to take it as a rebuke.

4. They suggested the National Committee "adopt leadership" that represents a "broad view of Republicanism and practices a policy of inclusion rather than exclusion."

Govs. George Romney of Michigan, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said No. 4 was a clear call for throwing Burch out of the committee chairmanship.

The thrust at Goldwater was contained in this paragraph calling for Republican party support of civil rights:

"We feel it pertinent to remind our fellow citizens that most Republicans in Congress this year supported the federal Civil Rights Act." Goldwater voted against it.

The principles, which the governors unanimously said the party should follow, turned out to be very moderate, indeed, and are hardly distinguishable from those Republicans and Democrats had followed in the past.

Example: Support for old-age security, hospital and medical care, decent living standards, public education, mental health, and the needs of youth.

It's just because the Democrats talk the same way that the two parties for years have looked like twins, and sounded like them.

Goldwater and his followers were less enthusiastic about welfare programs. For this reason, among others, his candidacy symbolized a break with pre-1964 Republicanism.

The governors' statement, therefore, can be interpreted as an attempt to get away from Goldwater's views and resume the party's previous positions. The governors ruled out "radicalism" of left or right.

But for the greater part of the past 32 years those previous Republican positions had failed to win the presidency or control of Congress. But these are the positions the governors say are necessary.

So the party's dilemma is how to win with them in the future if it fared so poorly in the past. And Goldwater's views can hardly be considered the answer, after what happened to him.

School and You

Boy, 15, 'Misunderstood'

By Susan Light

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT — What would be your estimate of a 15-year-old boy who has never gotten along with any teacher? "She doesn't understand him," says his mother. He gets fairly good grades but is poor in deportment. He is the class cut-up and is a mama's boy. He doesn't get along with boys his age either. He has changed schools three times. Same results in each. What can be done? — NO SIGNATURE.

ANSWER — Are you the boy's teachers, his relatives, or just nosy neighbors? To make a fair estimate, I'd have to know what your interest in this boy is and much more about his background.

As a snap judgment, I would say that a 15-year-old who has never gotten along with any teacher probably needs professional help, the sooner, the better. If his mother continues to blame each teacher in turn, she is only burying her head in the sand.

If the three schools he has attended have been unable to help him, a special school for emotionally disturbed children might be the answer. According to your account, however, his shortcomings don't appear to warrant special schooling. Class cut-ups may become television comedians with six-figure salaries. Mama's boys may untie the apron strings when they take off for college. And disagreeable boys have been known to improve their personalities when they meet the right girl.

Matter of Fact

Human flight was made possible in 1783 by the invention of the free balloon. The first flight, a distance of six miles across Paris, was made by two Frenchmen with the use of inflated hot air. Hydrogen gas was soon substituted for air. By 1804, an altitude of more than 23,000 feet was reached by two French chemists.

'The First Christmas'

Once, nearly 2,000 years ago, a small boy named Dov lived with his parents in a country called Syria. They were poor. There were no schools, as there are today, and Dov was a shepherd boy.

He rose early and helped his father tend 100 sheep, the family's sole source of income.

It was a tedious job, for while most of the sheep were docile and did what they were expected to do, there was one bad actor.

Bell's Palsy Victim Needs Eye Protection

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Q — I have Bell's palsy. My doctor said I should keep indoors as much as possible. What damage can too much wind do to my eye?

A — Bell's palsy is a paralysis of one side of the face. It usually comes on suddenly. The eyelid on the affected side cannot close completely. This may cause drying of the eye and an added risk of getting dust in it. Exposure to the weather would irritate your eye, but when you go out you could wear an eye shield. There may also be some drooling of saliva from the corner of your mouth. Furthermore, you will not be able to whistle or to wrinkle your brow on the involved side. Cortisone or a related drug often helps if it is given early in the course of this disease. About 80 per cent of the victims recover in 8 to 10 weeks. In those persons who do not recover spontaneously in the time, the condition is usually permanent.

Q — What is Alzheimer's disease? What causes it and how is it treated?

A — Alzheimer's disease is another name for senile dementia. As we reach advanced age there is always some shrinking of the brain, but only when the process becomes extreme is there any true dementia. The exact cause of the shrinking is not known, but it is apparently not due to hardening of the arteries in the brain. The progress of the disease is very gradual. The victim may become depressed or fearful. His behavior is unpredictable. Treatment in an institution is usually required.

Q — I have been taking Amphojel three times a day for some time. Is this drug harmful when taken regularly for a long time?

A — Amphojel is an aluminum hydroxide preparation that is recommended for heartburn, peptic ulcer and so-called acid indigestion. Although I would advise taking it only when you need it to relieve symptoms, it is true that many persons take it regularly for long periods without any harmful effects.

Q — My doctor says I have cardiovascular disease with dyspnea and palpitation. What is this and is it serious?

A — Cardiovascular disease is a disease of your heart and blood vessels. Dyspnea is shortness of breath and palpitation is an acute awareness of the beating of your heart. Since dyspnea and palpitation may be due to nervous apprehension as well as to serious heart disease, I cannot say how serious these symptoms are in your case. An indication of waterlogging, however, would be a sign of seriously impaired heart function.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Operation Can Reduce Sticking Out of Jaw

By William Lawrence, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Barbara and Carol are twins and the sweetest kids you ever saw. They have a way about them that appeals to fathers.

When their case was presented at the hospital staff meeting, one dentist said, "You girls are so attractive just as you are. Why are you so determined to have your jaws operated on?"

Barbara and Carol had jaws that struck out about a half inch. "Overdeveloped jaws," the orthodontist claimed, and for most of their 17 years, the girls hated it. "We're sick and tired," said one "of eating like bulldogs and looking like them."

It was carefully explained that prognathous jaws, as it is called, can be corrected, but not without some danger and discomfort. It meant a three-hour operation, a week in the hospital and six to ten weeks of healing while the upper and lower jaws were tightly wired together. A three course dinner during this time would of necessity consist of three different liquids, as food is limited to what can be sucked up through a straw.

Yet they were more than willing to go through with it. A team of dentists working with skill and precision, cut through both sides of the jaw at a point below the hinge. The jaw was then allowed to slide back to a position at which the upper and lower teeth were in normal relationship.

The overlapping sections of bone will grow together in time. Vital nerves and blood-vessels hated it. "We're sick and tired," said one "of eating like bulldogs and looking like them."

Everything went as well as this standard procedure should, and Barbara and Carol are happy young women. They haven't yet done quite as well as one patient, who with wires still on her teeth, had an engagement ring slipped on her finger. But hopes are high.

Back-Seat Driving Not Bad If It's Intelligent

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you're a wife, chances are you do a little back-seat driving occasionally. Chances are, too, that your husband doesn't appreciate your help. If it is any consolation to you, the Chicago Motor Club is out with a good word for back-seat drivers. Intelligent back-seat driving can be a big help to the driver of an automobile, says the motor club.

Of course, if you report this news to your husband he may say, "Yeah, intelligent back-seat driving" and think he has put you in your place once and for all.

You can be sure your brand of back-seat driving is intelligent: If you don't indulge in such annoying tactics as trying to tell the driver what route to take, instead of leaving that up to him. If you resist the temptation to read road signs aloud when the driver can read just as well as you can. If you don't nag him about speed when he is driving within the speed limit. If you don't make him nervous by bracing yourself every time you think he should slow down.

If you will just confine your back-seat driving to calling his attention to the unexpected traffic hazard you are aware of before he is, to watching out for freeway exit signs while he concentrates on driving, and to road maps for him, your husband may even admit that as a back-seat driver, you aren't too bad.

Of course, he won't be any more enthusiastic about your back-seat driving than that (what man thinks he needs any help), but that's all right.

Anything you can contribute to safety on the highway is all to the good, even if it does make you a back-seat driver. But just be sure you're an intelligent one.

Festive Yule Party By BPW Club

An evening filled with both the serious observance of Christmas and the fun, was enjoyed by members of the Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday night at Bothwell Hotel when they combined the regular December dinner meeting with the annual Christmas party.

Festive in Christmas decorations in blue and green with shining blue balls on the evergreen branches and lighted blue candles, the meeting was opened by Mrs. Lily Thomas, president, with invocation by Captain Marjorie Weber.

Members of the Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Rosalie Delozier, Mary Goodrich, percussionist, and Captain Weber, narrator, presented a delightful Christmas program. As Captain Weber brought out the many things that Christmas means, joy, sharing, love, lighted candles and the greatest gift of all. After each bit of narration the Glee Club sang one of the songs: "Ring, Christmas Bells," "The Sleep of the Child Jesus," "Lullaby, Thou Little Tiny Child," "The Little Drummer Boy," "Candle Light" and "A Musical Christmas Card."

This was followed by group singing of Christmas songs led by Miss Blanche Faust.

Mrs. Marie McClure then presented "Christmas Customs" with a group of the members each telling the origin of today's Christmas traditions: Mrs. Nyra Price, Miss Erma Fajen, Mrs. Minnie Herrick, Mrs. Marguerite Scott, Mrs. Vivian Warren and Mrs. Dorothy Boyd. This included the origin of Santa Claus, the yule tree, caroling, bells, yule gifts, yule log, Christmas cards, stockings, holly, mistletoe and Rudolph.

The gift exchange was held with the attractively wrapped presents under the aluminum tree decorated with red balls and on another table were the white gifts for a needy family centered with a brass Christmas tree candelabra with bright red candles.

The meeting closed with an inspiring message "Let's Put Christ Back in Christmas," given by Mrs. Maria Walkup.

Mrs. Walkup told of the maddening rush of today, of the many changes, but that we should be thankful for the few things that have not changed—and Christmas is something that does not change.

She told of an article on the amazing new science of love, which said it was the great taproot of the world, for mental illness, delinquency, so much of everything wrong is caused by the lack of love.

Mrs. Walkup went on to tell of grand rush of the Christmas season when much time and energy is spent. She told of the woman who had decided she would get everything done and have all of the day before Christmas all to herself. She did get everything done and so she had time to read to the blind woman across the street, make happy the homesick little bride next door, do things for her family and it was a busy, long to be remembered day—because she shared.

There are many old people who are no longer a part of the maddening crowd, they have been removed from the crowd by the greatest killer of all, the incurable disease of old age, where there is a lack of love and understanding, Mrs. Walkup told the group.

The yuletide radiance, she said, shed onto others in December, will gladden and make happy your Aprils and your Mays.

'King Rat' Is Bloomin' British Film

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's a bit of old blighty in the nearby Conejo Valley these days.

Listen to the accents on the "King Rat" set and you might think you're in Piccadilly, that's how bloomin' British it is. The movie is kind of a reverse runaway, being made by a British producer, director-writer and cast, with the exception of New Yorker George Segal as the rat himself.

The Columbia film is shooting near Thousand Oaks on a ranch owned by the Hawaiian Steamship Co. There studio craftsmen have constructed an amazing replica of Singapore's Changi Prison, where during the war 10,000 Allied prisoners were housed by the Japanese in facilities originally intended for 600.

It's quite a set. The permanent prison towers with harsh reality over clusters of thatched huts designed to house the overflow of prisoners. On the hill-sides are scatterings of rootless palms and other portable plants to simulate the tropical foliage. The grass-shy California slopes also got a coat of green paint to add to the effect. Total cost of the set: $375,000.

Fourteen English actors were imported for top roles, and they were augmented by members of the local British colony. Extras were a problem. They had to be skinny, if not emaciated, and the Screen Extras Guild couldn't supply the hundreds that were needed. Casting agents enlisted others from state unemployment offices.

Producing "King Rat" is James Woolf — "Room at the Top". The director is former actor Bryan Forbes, who scored success last year with his direction of "The L-Shaped Room." He also wrote the "King Rat" script from the James Clavell novel.

Forbes paused to explain why the film was being made in California: "Because it would be impossible to make in England. Even in the summer there would be no assurance of good weather and we could run into another 'Cleopatra' type of disaster."

K-State And Kansas Take First Losses Of Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eighth-ranked Kansas State and Kansas took their first defeats of the season Saturday, leaving Missouri as the only unbeaten team in Big Eight basketball after the first week in which conference teams won 10 of 18 games with outside teams.

Missouri's perfect record likely will disappear tonight when the Tigers meet unbeaten, top-ranked Michigan at Ann Arbor. In other games tonight, potent Southern Illinois plays at Kansas State, South Dakota at Nebraska and Oklahoma at Indiana.

It's doubtful the Big Eight will get better than an even break in this week's rugged 18-game schedule with non-conference opponents.

Big Ten teams spoiled the perfect records of K-State and Kansas at Manhattan and Lawrence. Indiana beat K-State 74-70 with an expectedly tough defense. Northwestern edged Kansas 58-as the Jayhawks fizzled on the attack.

Nebraska got its first victory by clipping Purdue of the Big Ten 96-85 at Lincoln with Coley Webb hitting 21 points and Bob Antulov 20. Oklahoma State had no trouble beating Regis of Denver 78-30 at Stillwater.

Iowa State lost to Minnesota 63-53 at Ames, the Gophers pulling away in the last half. Missouri trailed by four at the half but rallied to beat Arkansas 81-71 at Columbia with George Flamank and Ned Monsees hitting 15 points each.

Colorado took third place in the Mile High Classic at Denver by surviving a last half rally for a 67-59 victory over Air Force. Jack Linz led the Buffs with 16 points.

The weekend left Missouri on top at 2-0; Kansas, Colorado and Oklahoma State all at 2-1; K-State and Nebraska both 1-1, Oklahoma 0-1 and Iowa State 0-2.

On Wednesday, Missouri plays at Air Force, Iowa State at Kentucky and Arkansas at Oklahoma State. Drake is at Colorado Thursday.

The annual Sunflower double-header opens at Manhattan Friday with Chicago Loyola meeting K-State and Kansas facing Penn State. The two Big Eight teams switch opponents Saturday night at Lawrence.

In other games Saturday night, Iowa State plays at Air Force, Oklahoma State at UCLA, Colorado at Northwestern, St. Louis at Missouri, Michigan at Nebraska and Oklahoma at Texas.

Coach Has Praise For Patriots

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"It was a great effort by my team, but they've been playing that way all year despite injuries," said Boston Coach Mike Holovak Sunday after the Patriots tied Buffalo by beating Kansas City, 31-24.

"We've never had our full squad from the very first game," Holovak said. "I think they've done a heckuva job."

Boston has a 10-2-1 record in the American Football League's eastern division title race. Buffalo dropped to a tie with the Patriots at 10-2-0 after Oakland upset the Bills on the final play, 16-13.

Ties don't count in pro standings, but the tie still hurts the Patriots somewhat because they have only one game left to Buffalo's two. However, Boston's lone remaining game is Dec. 20 with Buffalo, at Boston.

Kansas City, now 5-7, was mathematically eliminated from the western race, won by San Diego. The Chiefs will play at San Diego Sunday, before closing with New York Dec. 20 in Kansas City. Oakland is close behind the Chiefs now at 4-7-2.

Gino Cappelletti, Boston end, broke his own AFL season scoring mark of 147 set in 1962. He scored 13 points, bringing his total to 155.

Veteran quarterback Babe Parilli fired three touchdown passes for Boston and directed 89 and 86-yard scoring drives in the last quarter, turning a 17-17 tie into a 31-17 bulge.

On the first play after the kickoff, Chiefs rookie Mack Lee Hill busted 71 yards to the Boston one, then bucked over to make it 31-24. But Don Webb's interception of a Len Dawson pass at the Boston 10 with 1:32 left killed Kansas City's final chance.

The tournament will end next weekend.

Limited Standing Is Given Bill Neider

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union's new president hopes the AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association can soon iron out their differences for the good of amateur athletics in the United States.

Clifford H. Buck said after election Sunday there should be a way for "fair-minded men of good faith, dedicated to amateur athletics, to unite in a common cause."

The cause, he said, is "giving the best possible service we can to amateur athletics of this country — to the youth."

However, the AAU gave no indication at the closing session of its annual meeting of softening on its argument with the NCAA over sanctioning of open track and field events.

In a statement of policy it declared that AAU rules do not recognize dual sanctions, a plan the NCAA has proposed.

The policy provides that any athlete who competes in an open meet sanctioned by the U.S. Track and Field Federation risks his AAU eligibility.

Without an AAU registration, officials pointed out, an athlete cannot compete in international meets.

The strong stand came in the face of a threatened NCAA boycott of AAU open meets. The NCAA has said it will ask its member schools to not compete in AAU-approved meets after Jan. 1 if the problem is not settled.

Buck, a retired sporting goods firm official from Denver, Colo., said he is available to meet with NCAA officials at any time, subject to the approval of the AAU advisory committee.

Big Celebration For Bill Bidwell Sunday

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sunday was just one big celebration for William Bidwell, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League.

Mrs. Bidwell gave birth to the couple's second child at St. John's Mercy Hospital three hours before the Cardinals trounced the Cleveland Browns, 28-19, and kept alive their hopes for the Eastern Division title.

"She timed it just right," the smiling Cardinal executive said. "The doctor was as happy as I was. He had two tickets to the game."

The boy, the Bidwells' second, weighed eight pounds, 14 ounces which led his father to quip, "he looks like a tackle."

NEW YORK—Gary Wood, young N.Y. Giants quarterback, proves he can run with the football as well as throw it. During Sunday game with Minnesota Vikings, Wood faked handoff and went for 12 yards and a first down. Frame No. 1, Wood (19) takes handoff to his fullback Ernie Wheelwright (30).

Frame No. 2, Wood elects to run as Tom Scott makes key block. The rookie QB runs into a host of Viking tacklers in frame No. 3; and in frame No. 4 he is downed by Roy Winston (60) and Larry Vargo (83). Minnesota won, 30-21. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Wichita opened at home Saturday by ripping Long Beach State 114-78 for a school scoring mark. All America Dave Stallworth was superb, with 37 points 16-for-25 field shooting and 18 rebounds.

St. Louis made it 3-0 smacking potent Illinois 79-64 at St. Louis with sophomore reserve John Kilo's 12-for-13 foul shooting providing a big lift in a foul-filled game.

Louisville won 73-60 at Marquette behind John Reuther's 22 points, North Texas won 105-84 at Trinity, Tex., College.

Tulsa whipped a good Seattle team 98-76 at Tulsa in its first game of the season. Seven-foot Tom Bender had 15 points and 12 rebounds for Tulsa. Miami of Ohio upset Cincinnati 65-55, ending Cincy's 20-game victory streak at Cincinnati Gardens.

Behind St. Louis in the non-league standings are Bradley and Louisville, both 2-0; Wichita and Tulsa, both 1-0; and North Texas, Cincy and Drake, all three at 1-1.

Valley strength will be tested this week in a 14-game card. Oklahoma City plays at North Texas and Murray State at Bradley tonight; Tulsa at Southern Methodist Tuesday; Houston at North Texas and Texas Western at Wichita Wednesday; Drake at Colorado and Tulsa at Loyola of New Orleans Thursday; and Brigham Young at Wichita in a two-game set Friday and Saturday.

Patriots Back In Spotlight

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

It was only fitting and proper. Back in October the Oakland Raiders, with some last-minute heroics, delivered what appeared to be a knockout blow to Boston's hopes of an Eastern Division title in the American Football League.

And now, with some last-minute heroics, the Raiders have knocked the Patriots right back into the drivers' seat.

The Raiders' Tom Flores did the job this time, hitting Art Powell with a three-yard touchdown pass with only four seconds left and boosting Oakland to a 16-13 victory over Buffalo Sunday.

Boston had been struggling desperately to catch up ever since Mike Mercer kicked a 38-yard field goal with five seconds left in the October clash when Oakland tied the Patriots 43-43 and appeared to knock them out of title contention.

They finally overhauled the Bills by beating Kansas City 31-24. That left Buffalo with a 10-2 record and Boston at 10-2-1. The Patriots are idle this week, while Buffalo has a game with Denver. Regardless of the outcome of the Bills' game with Denver, the Eastern title goes on the line in the final game of the regular season, Boston at Buffalo.

The San Diego Chargers wrapped up the Western title, their second straight and fourth in the five-year history of the AFL with a 38-3 romp over New York in the only other league game played over the weekend.

Boston's Babe Parilli passed for 300 yards and three touchdowns in leading the Pats to their key victory. A 29-yard touchdown pass to Art Graham broke a 17-17 tie and put Boston ahead to stay.

Plush Items For Canines On Gift List

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't tell Fido, but to keep up with the real top dogs this Christmas, he must have flannel pajamas, heated sleeping pad and a self-service biscuit dispenser.

That's the word from those in the know on the pooch fashion front.

For the dog of real distinction, these other items are being shown in the doggy departments of stores:

A striped Arabian tent, complete with mattress, where the dog tired-of-it-all can rest in privacy, $14.95 up.

A nylon ski jacket and cap, for the outdoor dog who likes to hear the whistle of the wind in his ears, a nifty outfit, $7.98.

Ear muffs with attached tinkle-bell topped beret, for the indoor dog who still must go outdoors occasionally, $2.98.

For the lady dog who runs with the cat society set, a velvet cocktail collar, in lavender and other shades, trimmed with roses and semi-precious stones, $2.98.

The pub-crawling gentleman dog hasn't been overlooked. He is offered a velvet collar, with white, formal, bow tie, $4.98.

Naturally, the evening dogs want to bring out the true highlights of their hair. Color shampoo is useful here at $2 a bottle.

For the dogs who have to play Santa Claus on Christmas Eve, like their masters, a Santa Claus suit, with beard, very stylish, $4.98.

Some discriminating dogs may want something better than the clothes shown on the racks. A made-to-measure mink coat at $65 may satisfy their quality tastes.

The dog - biscuit dispenser, looking like a coin machine, is for the dog who likes to eat between meals. One paw push and a biscuit falls out, $6.95.

Does a dog really need pajamas at $2.49 to sleep in, one store official was asked.

"We sell quite a lot of pajamas," he replied. "When the heat dies down late at night a dog gets cold. He can't wrap up in a blanket like a human, you know."

Ringo's Neighbors Protest to Shrieks

LONDON (AP) — Ringo Starr, the Beatle drummer who lost his tonsils last week, may also lose his home.

His neighbors have petitioned his landlord to move him out of his $125-a-week apartment in Westminster. His teen-age fans are driving them crazy.

"Ringo's tonsil operation has given us our first peace for months," said Latham Gedge, a neighbor.

"Teen-age girls scream and shriek all day long," said his wife. "They get hysterical, fight and kick each other and chase every car that arrives in case Ringo is inside."

"It's a drag," said Ringo, due out of University College Hospital on Thursday.

"I wish I could do something about it — but I can't control the fans."

Ringo was reported coming along well despite a slight cold. His voice retains its Liverpudlian croak.

Fatal Gun Accident

KANSAS CITY (AP) — John H. Peters, 39, of Grandview, Mo., was killed by a blast from his own shotgun in southern Jackson County Sunday. Sheriff's officers said the gun apparently fired accidentally.

Washington Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he hopes to keep the defense budget next year to slightly below $50 billion.

After checking over budget figures for two hours at the White House with President Johnson on Saturday, McNamara said recent economies in the Defense Department will permit a substantial cut in new spending authority requested for the fiscal year which begins next July 1.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The population of the world in mid-1964 was an estimated 3,283,000,000 and it is growing at the rate of about 65 million a year. In 1980 it is expected to hit 4.3 billion.

The figures were compiled primarily from United Nations estimates. They were released by the Population Reference Bureau to point out the long-range problems posed by the global population increase.

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 2,000 graduate and undergraduate students will undertake intensive training in 34 rarely taught modern languages next summer.

The Office of Education in announcing this today said an allocation of some $325,000 has

Deep Secrets Flow Freely Through Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The automobile explosion in America is outdistancing the population explosion.

About 77 per cent of U.S. men and 46.5 per cent of the women have a driver's license.

Board chairmen of banks with assets of under $300 million earn an average of $39,000 a year, those with more than $300 million in assets earn $72,000.

Speaking of money, did you know that a nickel is 75 per cent copper, and that a dollar is 10 per cent copper and only 90 per cent silver?

If you have a normal appetite, you consume a million calories a year. This includes some 200 soft drinks, which account for roughly 17,000 calories.
